Taxes Delinquent Sixth of December

First Installment Is Due Next Monday Oct. 18th

Martinez, Oct. 15.—Approximately 50,000 tax notices are being sent out to owners of property in Contra Costa county by Tax Collector Martin W. Joost.

The taxes to be collected for the first half of the fiscal year 1926-27 amount to $3,181,444. The first installment is due next Monday and the taxes will become delinquent December 6.

The same rules governing the county taxes are in effect in Richmond. City Tax Collector J. O. Ford is busy sending out notices for city taxes this week. The assessment rolls here call for taxes approximating $330,000.

25,685 Register For Nov. Election

Martinez, Oct. 15.—Voters in Contra Costa county eligible to cast ballots in the general election of November 2 total 25,685, according to registration figures submitted by County Clerk J. H. Wells. Republicans have their usual large majority with 19,294 stating their preference to that party.

Sharkey to Speak

Martinez, Oct. 15.—State Senator Sharkey has accepted an invitation to address the meeting at the Richmond club Monday afternoon, Oct. 18. Sharkey will also address other meetings on the amendments, a campaign of education in the county now being in progress.

Easy Money

Traffic Officer Cheek caught Messrs. Coz and Pyzel, of Oakland and Piedmont respectively, hitting it up on the highway. Judge Roth said $25 and $30, and negotiations were speedily closed.

The New York Times in a recent editorial talks about "Republican Metaphysicians." If Senator Reed hears about this there will be another senate investigation.

DEWEY'S "OLYMPIA" AT THE SESQUI

The famous old flag ship is shown at her berth in Philadelphia Navy Yard, the background for the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition which celebrates 150 years of American independence. Docked just in front of the Olympia is the U. S. S. Constellation, oldest fighting ship in commission. They daily attract thousands of visitors to the Exposition which continues until December 1.

Elks to Entertain the President Favors Rural Free Delivery Service

Livermore, Oct. 15.—Soldiers confined in the veteran's hospital here are to be given a treat, Oct. 29, when the Eastbay Elks will stage an excellent program for the vets. Richmond Elks will play a prominent part in the program, several members of 1251 having prominent parts in the program which has been arranged to amuse the soldier boys confined there.

October 15th the Point Richmond Circle 123, United Order of Druids, will entertain the grand arch druids Mrs. D.M. Elen of San Francisco.

Game Is Thinning Out

Back in old Missouri in the days of Mark Twain it was a custom of the woodsmen to "bark" squirrels. The barking was done with a rifle and consisted of shooting so close to the head of a squirrel flattened out on a limb that the impact of the ball stunned the animal without breaking the skin. If the hunter's aim was a bit off and he happened to kill the squirrel outright, breaking the skin, he was considered a novice and ranked accordingly.

Kentucky was another state where "barking" was popular. Now, however, squirrels are not so plentiful in that state. No game is plentiful and even fish in Kentucky are comparatively scarce.

Strict Viennese Laws

Under modifications in the municipal laws of Vienna, persons who talk, whistle or sing too loudly in the streets may be fined 30 cents. For repeated offenses jail terms are provided. If a person is detected reading a newspaper or book while walking along the street, thereby "impeding pedestrian traffic," he may be subjected to a similar fine. Stopping a friend in the middle of a roadway, carrying packages of undue sizes and using bad or unseemly language, are among other punishable offenses.

Ingenious Swiss Watch

A watch with all parts of the intricate movement mounted on steel bridge work so made as to form the numerals "1776" is on exhibition in the Longines collection of watches at the Sesqui-centennial exposition. The watch, built entirely by hand by a Swiss watchmaker, took six years to construct. It was originally intended for the Centennial exposition at Philadelphia in 1876, but was not completed in time and has since been in the Longines collection.

Elephant Too Playful

Khartoum, largest of the elephants in the Bronx zoo in New York, is a kind-hearted creature—but he is misunderstood. Last year he conceived the benevolent idea of sharing his bath with the hot humans who came to watch his ablutions. Those whom he sprayed with trunkfuls of water, however, were unappreciative, so this season finds a huge plate glass screen erected between his cage and the public.

Has Given Good Service

Forty-five years ago Eliakin McCabe of Bath, Maine, bought a thermometer for 15 cents and it has been doing duty ever since. Mr. McCabe says it has never been painted or repaired during these years and the only time it has been taken off the nail outside has been on one or two occasions when he has moved from one house to another.

Free Delivery Service

The rural free delivery service of the country is one branch of the postoffice for which appropriations will be extended and not cut. This service which brings virtually to the door of every home in America, full mail facilities, represents a feature of governmental life which the president holds dear. Every encouragement. It is whispered that on the basis of mere money saving, it was hinted that there was a chance to save by cutting the rural free delivery service. President Coolidge promptly ruled to the contrary. Postmaster General New deserves credit for helping to drive home this lesson. The service now carries mail to more than thirty million persons residing in the rural districts of the United States, with sledges, flivvers and with boats upon the waterways. In 1897 there was only 1843 miles of rural free delivery routes. Today the services daily move over one and a quarter million miles.

Si in Doubt

Old Si Sanford says he bit on the adv. that he could run his Ford 43 1/2 miles on a Thermopool carburetor gas control, and insists that Ford still knows his stuff and it is good business to stick to original Ford's ideas.

Fact About the Telephone

There has been an increase of about 730 per cent in the number of telephones in the city of Minneapolis during the last 20 years.

The first central telephone office in Washington, D.C., was opened December 1, 1878.

At the beginning of the present year the United States had fifteen telephones per 100 population while Europe had less than two.

Philadelphia averages approximately 65,000 long distance telephone calls per day.

Electricity in Orchards

Orchards are sprayed by electric power in the great fruit country of the Pacific coast. Ninety-seven motorized spraying outfits averaged $3 per acre of spraying cost during the early part of this summer. Harry L. Garver of the Washington committee on the relation of electricity to agriculture reported. About 1,000 such spraying outfits were in use by the middle of the summer.

Ice Drinking Glasses

Sanitary drinking cups and glasses of ice are formed in a freezing apparatus devised by a Dutch engineer. They are said to last 30 minutes in a warm room and have an outer cover and an inner core for strength and easy handling. Besides keeping the liquid cool, they eliminate the danger of communicating disease, as frequently occurs with a common cup.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Postmen Seek Comfort

English postmen are demanding a new style of hat. The present official headgear of the post office department, a medium between a fireman's helmet and the cap of an ancient piece of armor, has become antiquated, the Postmen's union declares. The union is petitioning the department to adopt a hat similar to that worn by mailmen in the United States.

Berkeley School Board Start Another Bond Campaign

Berkeley, Oct. 15.—The $3,000,000 school bond election date has been set for December 11th, according to tentative plans of the school board which has decided to adopt the recommendation of the survey commission.

The three million dollars asked for may be trimmed a half million. A number of the old school buildings will be salvaged and new school structures substituted. It was not authorized a five year stated that the bond issue would include a new high school building near the Albany line.

Life Seeks Sensation

Life is a constant seeker after pleasurable sensations. If it were not so, we would not go to Europe by the hundreds of thousands and to football games by the millions. We would not give thought to our clothes and care of our food. We would not prefer golf to walking and we would not dance. Delight is the chief, if not the only, end. Instruction may be admitted but only secondarily.—Joseph Collins, in Vanity Fair.

Raise Toads for Market

Harper has a rather unusual industry in the Kansas toad market. Hundreds of the animals are bought and sold daily, and delivered at 2 cents apiece, says the Topeka Capital.

The demand is created by the Len Laird snake farm four miles southwest of Harper, where thousands of the reptiles are handled annually, some shipments going as far as France.

Most Cows in Wisconsin

Wisconsin leads the Union in cow population, according to the latest cattle census. There are 1,800,000 cows in this state. There are 1,500,000 in New York, 1,200,000 in Minnesota, 1,000,000 in Illinois, 900,000 in Iowa, nearly 500,000 in Ohio, with Texas, Michigan and Pennsylvania close behind.—Pathfinder.

Things You Auto Know

Portable garages are now serving the motoring public in the east. The service includes gas, oil, air, water, with expert mechanical and tire service features.

Careless signaling is the cause of numerous crashes. In making a left turn do not swing to the right before turning. The motorist behind naturally expects you to turn right. Arm extended, means left turn; arm extended upward, means right turn; arm extended downward, means stop or slow down.

The United States manufactured four million cars in the twelve months past; Great Britain built less than two million, while France was the European leader with 10,000 cars more than England.

Traffic laws are rigidly enforced in Mexico, the police taking shots at violators, which not only imperils the lives of drivers, but also of passengers.

Motor traffic can now enter and leave Yosemite Valley at any hour during the day or night, all controls having been eliminated.

When descending grades do not turn off the ignition switch, as this causes the accumulated gases in the muffler to explode and it may blow out.

Spirited conversations and arguments between drivers and passengers increase hazards. Cut them out. A driver has all he can do to drive carefully, especially in traffic.

Dry Candidate For U. S. Senate Hopeful

David P. Barrows Will Address Rotaries On "Water"

The new Mokelumne water system and what it will do for Richmond will be the topic of the talk to be given by David P. Barrows, member of the East Bay Municipal Water district and former president of the University of California, at the Rotary club luncheon, the date to be set later.

Sacramento Valley Is Reported to Be On Wagon

Sacramento, Oct. 15.—Sentiment throughout the Sacramento Valley is strongly opposed to the repeal of the Wright Act and this proposal is bound to lose by a heavy vote, according to J. O. Davis, Northern California manager for John E. Elliott, candidate for United States senator.

Davis has just returned from a tour of valley cities. This sentiment he says, presages a heavy vote for Elliott, who is running on a strictly dry platform.

"With the interior strongly opposed to the repeal of the Wright Act, it is impossible for this initiative measure to win," said Davis.

"The southern part of the state is predominantly dry and, in combination with the country vote, will send the measure to defeat by a larger vote than even its opponents expected.

"In my travels through the valley I found no happier augury than this for Elliott. Everywhere he is recognized as the one major candidate in the present election who is standing unequivocally for law enforcement and that his opponent in this campaign is endorsed by the association against prohibition. This endorsement appears in the publication 'The Sacramento Minute'—Man, and says: 'Those who vote for Shortridge will vote not only for a man who is against prohibition but who also is representing all of California in the Senate.'"

"The vote for Elliot will not be cast on party lines. The democratic candidate for United States senator is fighting on the side of principle

James Ford Rhodes, the famous historian, said at a dinner in Boston: "In studying great men's lives you are amazed at the abuse their contemporaries heap on their best work. Wagner is an example. The finer masterpiece Wagner turned out, the viler the ridicule that would be visited on him. Jealousy? No, stupidity." Doctor Rhodes smiled and ended in his epigrammatic way: "When you put your best foot foremost, most people are sure to step on it."

CALIFORNIA NEWS BRIEFS

The critical water situation in North San Juan, Nevada county, and at French Corral and other places along the ridge was relieved recently by a flow of water from French Lake one of the Bowman group. Repairs of flumes damaged by forest fires has been sufficient to permit turning down 100 inches of water. The reservoirs at both towns are dry and the uncertain water supply of a few wells has been all of the water available for domestic use for several days. So acute has grown the situation that use of well water for automobile radiators and watering poultry was banned, such supplies being obtained from the Yuba river, several miles distant.

Robert G. Sprout, controller and vice-president of the University of California, issued a statement in support of proposition No. 10 on the November ballot, which provides for a bond issue of $5,500,000 for state buildings in Sacramento and Los Angeles and university buildings in Berkeley and Los Angeles. Sprout, who is chairman of the committee in charge of the campaign for the measure, declared that approval of the bond issue will not increase taxes, either directly or indirectly. He says it will designate how corporation taxes, already provided for, are to be spent.

Ground will be dedicated and the cornerstone laid at San Francisco for San Francisco's War Memorial buildings, on Armistice Day, November 11, under the auspices of officials of the War Memorial Commission board of trustees, boards of the San Francisco Opera and Symphony organizations, American Legion and various veterans and military organizations. Civic and state officials will take an active part in the ceremonies, and units of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps will cooperate with the local committee of arrangements in the elaborate exercises.

The dangerous little "divorce imp," which lures an average of 10,000 California couples to the marital rocks each year, will be made a subject of state investigation if the legislature passes a measure which Senator J. M. Inman of Sacramento, plans to introduce this winter. Inman's bill will provide that the statistical branch of the state board of health gather all data bearing on divorces, including the annual number of decrees granted by California courts and the number of children affected by the separations.

Frank Pettibone of Long Beach, was in Bakersfield recently, on his way home from his mine in the Sierras, near Visalia, in an effort to enter into a contract with an aviation company to carry ore from his mine to the nearest railway shipping point. The ore, which is used in lightening steel, is valued at $800 a ton, he said. Only by the use of airplanes, equipped to carry heavy cargoes, can the mine be made to yield a profit, its owner says, as it is not accessible to mules or other means of transportation.

Three thousand Coulter pines will be set out along the roads of Santa Barbara county this winter and the coming spring. The young trees are to come from the Los Angeles county forestry department, and a general reforestation program will be launched this fall. Berry bearing vines and shrubs will be tried out within the forest lands to develop sources of food for wild birds, and a protective association has been formed to stock these regions with wild turkeys, pheasants and grouse.

Anderson Valley, Mendocino county, nestling under protecting hills which, while providing just enough coolness to properly retain moisture in the fruit, never allows blistering, and which section produces some of the finest apples in California, is going to hold its first Annual Apple Show and Fair next month. Every farm center in Mendocino county is to have an exhibit at the fair, and an attendance of 5,000 is looked forward to.

In spite of the fact that 736 cases of measles have been reported in California for the past month as compared with 50 during the same period in 1925, officials of the state board of health, declared the situation was not alarming. Most of the cases are in the coast counties from San Luis Obispo north to San Francisco.

Theodore Chapman Fox, Civil War veteran, who died at the Yountville veterans home, on September 21, was revealed as a hero of the great Chicago fire of 1871. In that conflagration, he risked his life many times carrying persons to safety from the flames and afterwards was highly lauded for his brave deeds.

Farmers take too much for granted in the use of insecticides and pest control sprays, and occasionally do more damage with the spray than would have been done if they had not used it. Announcement was made a short time ago that plans had been completed for a new Masonic temple to be erected at Redondo Beach. The structure will cost between $50,000 and $100,000, depending upon features of construction under consideration. It was pointed out, and will house all lodges of the Masonic order at the beach city.

Orange, situated in the heart of a $7,000,000 Valencia district, thirty-four miles from Los Angeles, has witnessed substantial development along many lines during the past twelve months. While true that no construction records have been established, building operations have been steady without any boom flurries to disturb land values and then subside.

Estimated to contain 31,080 feet of first grade lumber, one of the most perfect sugar pine trees yet cut rolled into the Tuolumne mill of the Pickering Lumber company on nine flat cars. Measuring nine feet in diameter at the butt, the tree was 226 feet tall. The first limb branched out 102 feet from the ground. The tree was cut into twenty foot lengths for hauling in from Camp.

Reports filed by county assessors with the state board of equalization show that the number of California war veterans granted tax exemption greatly increased for the 1926-27 tax year over 1925. Property valued at more than $78,000,000 and owned by 140,790 ex-service men was placed on the exempt roll for 1926 as compared to $69,127,986 in property owned by 120,938 veterans in 1925.

A scientific study of windbreaks is to be conducted in the windy areas of San Bernardino county under the direction of Farm Adviser H. J. Wilder and Woodbridge Metcalf, extension forester of the State College of Agriculture. In order to measure the effect of well developed windbreaks on the velocity of winds within an orange grove that is protected by a "break," an anemometer has been placed in a Fontana grove, where A. B. Miller, developer of that district, has already secured some excellent data. This, it is believed, will be of great value to citrus growers.

HUSBAND MURDERS WIFE WITH AX AS KISS IS SCORNE

Killed in Bed Because Spouse Objected to Her Going Out Nights.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—Because his attractive wife had found other interests and refused to remain home at night, Antonio di Palo, twenty-seven, a laborer, killed her in bed with an ax, he confessed to police of the Wilson avenue station, Brooklyn.

The murder was committed while the four young children of the couple slept in an adjoining room, and was discovered by them when they rushed into their mother's room shouting for breakfast. Their screams brought neighbors, who found Mrs. di Palo with her head almost severed and her body mutilated.

According to neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. di Palo had young wife dressed in her best and went out nights. She took in sewing and told her husband she was using her own money.

Kiss Is Scorned.
The night before the tragedy, according to her children, she prepared their dinner, left her husband's on the stove and went to the movies. She returned at eleven o'clock, her husband told police, and he asked: "Rose, don't you care for me any more?"

She gave him an abrupt answer, he said, and they went to bed. At six o'clock di Palo awoke and tried to kiss her. She refused him with a curse, he said. He got the ax from behind the bathtub and killed her. He then dressed in his best clothing and left the house.

Di Palo, employed by the Insulation company of York and French streets, Brooklyn, is described by neighbors as a hard-working and family-loving man.

Lost Mothers, Children, Found Praying in Forest

East Douglas, Mass.—Kneeling in prayer, two women and three children who had been lost in dense woods were found huddled under a tree early in the day. They had been lost for twelve hours and were four miles from where they had entered the woods.

They were Mrs. Louis Chabot of Whitinsville, her two children, Louis and Joseph, aged nine and ten respectively, and Mrs. Chabot's sister-in-law, Mrs. Adelard Chabot, and her nine-year-old daughter.

The missing party was found by one of a posse of over 100 men who had answered a call for assistance when it became known that the women and children were lost.

Boy, Five, Bites the Dog; It's "Whale of a Yarn"

Pittsburgh.—"If a dog bites a man, that's not news, but if a man bites a dog, that's a whale of a story," says the reporters' text book.

Anyhow, Thomas McGinley, five years old, son of County Detective James McGinley, simply "fought fire with fire," when his pet police dog snapped at him.

As a result, the dog became a patient of a veterinary surgeon. A piece was bitten out of one ear.

The boy was treated by a physician for minor injuries.

Unused in 32 Years, Jail Is Torn Down

Yellowstone Park, Wyo.—The Yellowstone National park jail has not held a prisoner in its 32 years of existence and now has been razed. "The only thing the jail has held in been liquor which has been found cached by run runners from the Canadian border," a park official asserted.

The jail was built in 1894, when the park was under the administration of the United States army. At that time prisoners were housed in the army guardhouse.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS

Melt all bits of laundry soap and use for dishwashing, so that none is wasted. A soap shaker is liked by many housewives as it uses the small bits of soap otherwise wasted.

Save the safety razor blades to use for ripping seams, cutting corns and scraping paint from windows. Many other uses will be found for them.

Embroidered pillow slips will last much longer if they are turned at night for sleeping on the wrong side. Many prefer a small pillow at night using plain slips, then the day pillows are always fresh. Often the ends of pillow cases where embroidery and lace is used, may be cut off and hemstitched on a new case. Trimming of all kinds will usually outwear two sets of pillow cases.

When using a flat-topped oven on the gas stove keep a pan of hot water heating for various uses and warm all the dishes for the meal on top of the oven.

Save any left-over fruit juice. It is good for drinks, jellies, and added to a cornstarch mixture makes a good pie filling for an emergency. Cover with a meringue and it will make a most appetizing pie. Use egg, milk and thickening of cornstarch with a cupful of juice. Water with butter may take the place of milk if that is not at hand.

A few sprays of cedar are fine for cleaning old irons when ironing. They are also good to wrap in with furs to keep the moths from troubling them.

Roller crackers make good thickening for soups. They should be saved for all dishes using buttered crumbs. They are good for cake, especially graham crackers.

Now that wild duck is in season, for those who have never dressed any it will be well to remind them after picking off the coarser feathers and any down that is wanted for pillows, to dip them into a basin of melted paraffin, not too hot, seeing that all is well covered, then hang to cool and harden. The paraffin may be peeled off, taking with it every tiny pin-feather, leaving the flesh clean.

Good Things to Eat.

When serving consommé or light soup the following is especially good:

Bread Rings.—Cut bread into rings with a doughnut cutter, after cutting the slices one inch in thickness. Brush each with butter, sprinkle with seasoned with cayenne. Put into a moderate oven to melt the cheese and brown the rings. Serve on lace-paper covered plates.

Almond Cakes.—Cream one-fourth of a cupful of butter, add one-half cupful of sugar gradually, beating well, then add the yolks of four eggs, well beaten, one-fourth of a cupful of milk and seven-eighths of a cupful of flour mixed and sifted with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Beat thoroughly and fill small paper cases two-thirds full of the mixture; sprinkle with shredded almonds and powdered sugar, place in a shallow baking pan and bake until brown.

Apricot Coupe.—Drain a can of apricots and cut into small pieces. To the sirup add one-half cupful of sugar and let simmer three minutes. Add sprig of lemon and cook until the sirup is thick. Half-fill glasses with vanilla ice cream, put in a teaspoonful of apricots, cover with ice cream and garnish with strips of angelica and a few bar leuc currants.

Coconut Macaroons.—Take one tablespoonful of butter, add one beaten egg, one and one-half cupfuls of oatmeal, put through the meat grinder, browned and ground, one-half cupful of sugar and one-half cupful of coconut. Mix well, drop by spoonfuls on buttered sheets and bake in a moderate oven.

Liver With Onion Sauce.—Dredge thin slices of liver with seasoned flour and fry brown in pork fat. Place the liver on a hot platter. Fry a cupful of chopped onions in the fat until a light brown. Add a tablespoonful of vinegar and pour over the liver. Cold boiled rice served with sliced bananas and cream makes a good and simple dessert. Hot rice served with a hot chocolate sauce is another dish well liked.

Poppcorn Macaroons.—Take one cupful of freshly popped corn, put through the meat grinder, add one cupful of walnut meats also ground. Beat until stiff the whites of three eggs, add gradually one cupful of powdered sugar, beat well, add the nuts and corn and a little salt. Drop by spoonfuls on baking sheet and bake in a moderate oven.

Panama has raised by a national lottery sufficient funds to complete the National insane asylum.

When serving consommé or light soup the following is especially good:

Bread Rings.—Cut bread into rings with a doughnut cutter, after cutting the slices one inch in thickness. Brush each with butter, sprinkle with

seasoned with cayenne. Put into a moderate oven to melt the cheese and brown the rings. Serve on lace-paper covered plates.

Almond Cakes.—Cream one-fourth of a cupful of butter, add one-half cupful of sugar gradually, beating well, then add the yolks of four eggs, well beaten, one-fourth of a cupful of milk and seven-eighths of a cupful of flour mixed and sifted with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Beat thoroughly and fill small paper cases two-thirds full of the mixture; sprinkle with shredded almonds and powdered sugar, place in a shallow baking pan and bake until brown.

Apricot Coupe.—Drain a can of apricots and cut into small pieces. To the sirup add one-half cupful of sugar and let simmer three minutes. Add sprig of lemon and cook until the sirup is thick. Half-fill glasses with vanilla ice cream, put in a teaspoonful of apricots, cover with ice cream and garnish with strips of angelica and a few bar leuc currants.

Coconut Macaroons.—Take one tablespoonful of butter, add one beaten egg, one and one-half cupfuls of oatmeal, put through the meat grinder, browned and ground, one-half cupful of sugar and one-half cupful of coconut. Mix well, drop by spoonfuls on buttered sheets and bake in a moderate oven.

Liver With Onion Sauce.—Dredge thin slices of liver with seasoned flour and fry brown in pork fat. Place the liver on a hot platter. Fry a cupful of chopped onions in the fat until a light brown. Add a tablespoonful of vinegar and pour over the liver. Cold boiled rice served with sliced bananas and cream makes a good and simple dessert. Hot rice served with a hot chocolate sauce is another dish well liked.

Poppcorn Macaroons.—Take one cupful of freshly popped corn, put through the meat grinder, add one cupful of walnut meats also ground. Beat until stiff the whites of three eggs, add gradually one cupful of powdered sugar, beat well, add the nuts and corn and a little salt. Drop by spoonfuls on baking sheet and bake in a moderate oven.

Banana Salad.—Cut nice ripe fruit into halves lengthwise. Lay on lettuce, cut-side down, cover with finely chopped nut meats and serve with a good rich salad dressing.

Keep Eliminative System Active

Good Health Requires Good Elimination.

ONE can't feel well when there is a retention of poisonous waste in the blood. This is called a toxic condition, and is apt to make one tired, dull and languid. Other symptoms are sometimes toxic backaches and headaches. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions. Many people have learned the value of Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, when the kidneys seem functionally inactive. Everywhere one finds enthusiastic Doan's users. Ask your neighbor!

GOATS CLIMB TREES IN HUNT FOR FOOD

Scarcity of Edible Material Causes Strange Antics.

San Diego, Calif.—Out in the arid on a nearly barren island goats are learning to climb trees and swim in the ocean for food. Necessity is the teacher of this population of Guadalupe Island, a volcanic bit of dry land sticking up out of the sea 240 miles southwest of San Diego.

For the goats are now eating themselves out of house and home, according to Laurence M. Huey, curator of birds and mammals in the natural history museum here. The goats, which overrun the island, are now having to resort to tree climbing and ocean diving for an existence.

Guadalupe Island, which has become famous during recent years as the only known habitat of the elephant seal, formerly was used as a penal colony by the Mexican government. Today the only inhabitants are a guard of Mexican soldiers to protect the elephant seals, which have become almost extinct, and myriads of goats. Eat Bark From Trees.

These goats climb to the highest pinnacles and thread their dangerous way up the face of the cliffs overhanging the sea in search of a blade of grass or bit of herbage. During the dry season food is so scarce that the goats have resorted to eating the bark from the cypress trees which crown the island, and desiring the luscious looking foliage they learned to climb trees. But by constant gnawing away of the bark the trees are dying, and the goats have had to turn to the sea for their provender. They eat the bits of seaweed that are cast up on the beach and even venture into water for more pretentious forays.

But the goats will be no more unless they mend their ways very soon. Huey says, for by destroying the cypress forests they are destroying their only source of fresh water supply, and unless they learn to subsist upon the hitherto unpalatable salt water they will die of both thirst and hunger.

Nemesis of Other Life.

The goats, which were first introduced in the penal colony days to supply food and milk for the colonists, have proved the nemesis of other forms of life on the island. Of the ten forms of bird life and mammals that are endemic to Guadalupe, the goats are responsible for the extinction of three. The towhees and wrens were exterminated by the complete destruction of the underbrush, while the caracaras preyed upon the new-born kids and were destroyed by men who had been granted the concession of exploiting the goats for their hides and tallow.

The adventures of the goats are not without peril, Huey said. Several carcasses of goats have been seen floating in the water beneath the precipitous cliffs, an evidence that the animals had fallen from the bluffs overhanging the sea. But as a rule, he explained, the goats cling to the face of the precipices almost as tenaciously as a fly ascending a window-pane.

French School Trains Girls to Help Husbands
Paris.—A high school girl in France dreams of how she can help her husband, says Mlle. Caron, the directress of the Fenelon school, where 1,200 girls are educated, mostly daughters of state officials and of families of a good social position.

"Formerly teaching was the first and only thing they thought of, now they and their parents are ready to consider other careers," Mlle. Caron said.

They are encouraged to become chemists and lawyers. As law clerks they earn 12,000 to 13,000 francs a year (under $400) for five or six hours a day work, with a month a year holidays and three months when a baby is born.

Scotland Yard Tracing Mystery of Fish Death
London.—Scotland Yard has been called on to solve one of the strangest mysteries in its varied career, the supposed poisoning of 100,000 goldfish. The fish were received recently by a local goldfish wholesaler from France, Italy, China and Japan.

Shortly afterward two strangers visited him and when they had left he noticed the fish herded together in the corners of the tanks dying by the scores. They emitted, he said, "a ghastly whistling sound as if they were birds." His loss is estimated at $5,000.

Court Orders Driver to Gather Up Glass
Asbury Park, N. J.—George Hilligan, who admitted driving an automobile from which bottles were flung into Grammer avenue, Interlaken, was forced by Judge Harry Hayes to pick up the broken glass. Beatty declared he got the idea of making offenders remove scattered rubbish from his father, who was a policeman in Brooklyn, 37 years ago.

PRECIOUS VOLUMES FOUND IN LIBRARY

Oldest Was Written in Reign of Henry V.

Winstipeg, Man.—Precious volumes several hundred of years old have been unearthed in a niche of St. John's college library by an ardent book lover.

One of the ancient books is 500 years old; several are more than 400 years of age. Written before the days of printing, they were penned in a fine hand and are now in a fine state of preservation.

The oldest and most interesting of the volumes is "Nicolaus Decretalium Libri V.," a book handwritten on manuscript, 1,256 pages—which would make many present-day sign writers green with envy. It was written in 1417, during the reign of Henry V. of England, and although it is 500 years old, its oaken boards are none the worse for wear.

Another specimen of early typography is "Biblia Sacra Latina," the Holy Bible in Latin—printed during the reign of Edward IV., in 1478, just exactly two years after William Caxton introduced printing into England. Next in order of merit, "Cicero's Epistolarum Familiarium," the letters of Cicero, printed 407 years ago, in 1519, four years after Wolsey was made lord chancellor.

Desiderius Erasmus, the famous Dutch scholar of the reign of Henry VIII, is represented by several volumes which were printed during his lifetime; the majority of them are around 1535.

"The Holy Bible," translated by Thomas Matthew in 1537, is another old-timer which has successfully withstood the ravages of time. Archbishop Cranmer, who was burned at the stake in Mary's reign, was a zealous reformer, and had the Bible translated into English. Henry VIII ordered a copy to be placed in all churches and one of these copies now reposes in St. John's college library here.

Another famous man of the same period was John Marbecke, who published his concordance in 1550. This is the first published concordance to the English Bible and was dedicated to Edward VI, in whose reign it was printed. According to Foxe, the author was burned for making his concordance.

Several books printed in Elizabeth's reign are in pretty good shape, but the most perfect is a copy of the Bible, dedicated to "the most virtuous and noble Queen Elizabeth," and printed at the Sign of the Tiger's Head in 1577, ten years before Mary, queen of Scots, was beheaded. Another precious volume is "The Book of Common Prayer," bound in sheepskin, the corners being re-enforced by little brass plates, which are delicately engraved. This book was printed in the year 1607, two years after the gunpowder plot, and is believed to have been the property of King James I.

Auto Death Rate Rises in U. S., Figures Show
Washington.—The hazard of death in automobile accidents appears to be increasing in the United States as a whole.

The Commerce department, making public comparable figures for 1925 and 1926, shows that so far this year, in the 66 larger cities of the country fatalities from automobile accidents have been as numerous as to indicate an annual death rate of 18.9 persons per 100,000 of population, while for the same period last year the rate was 17.9 per cent.

On this basis of the department's calculation the chance of getting killed by automobile is now greatest in Camden, N. J., where the death rate for 1926 is placed at 40.9 per 100,000, and least in Norfolk, where in the same period it is but 10 to 100,000. In New York the present indicated automobile death rate is 16.0 while in Chicago it is 20.7.

Fortresses Placed on British Auction Block
London.—Any person who desires to buy a perfectly good circular fortresses, more than a century old and beautifully situated on the English channel, can purchase it of the British war office for a suitable consideration. It is one of the string of Martello towers which dot the coast in the southeastern corner of England, erected when the islanders grew panicky over the reputed purpose of Napoleon Bonaparte to cross from France and pay them a visit. It has walls six feet thick, a gun emplacement on top and a magazine underneath. Inner and outer moats surround the property.

The war office apparently thinks it is time Napoleon's unconscious contribution toward relieving the present housing congestion should be more profitably realized upon. At any rate, it wants to get rid of the property and it is to be sold at auction shortly.

Why Not? Budapest, Hungary.—Hot springs are going to provide heat for city's buildings. Next thing, perhaps, will be the piping of some refrigeration from the North pole in summer.

Boys Grow Better
New York.—Boys here between the ages of nine and eighteen are far better than youngsters were ten and twenty years ago, says a survey made for the Kiwanis club.

MOONS OF JUPITER BEHAVE LIKE OURS

U. of W. Astronomer Makes Interesting Discovery.

Mount Hamilton, Calif.—At least three of the moons of Jupiter, like the moon of the earth, rotate once on their axis in the same time that it takes them to make one revolution around their parent planet, declares Dr. Joel Stebbins, professor of astronomy at the University of Wisconsin, now working at the Lick observatory here.

Doctor Stebbins is making use of the twelve-inch refracting telescope of the observatory, and a photo-electric photometer by means of which the light from a star, planet or moon is focused on a film of metallic potassium. This results in a minute electric current which can be measured with a delicate galvanometer, and so the brightness of the object can be accurately determined.

Cut Off Jupiter's Light.
The chief difficulty is in keeping the brilliant light from Jupiter itself off the cell, but Doctor Stebbins has overcome this by the use of a small diaphragm with a hole through which the light from the satellite can shine, but not the planet. However, satellite I, the nearest to Jupiter, is too close to be measured even with this method.

Measurements have been made of II, III and IV. All of these satellites were discovered by Galileo in 1610, and can be seen with a small telescope. In addition there are five others, but these require a large instrument to make them visible.

Moons II, III and IV take three days, thirteen hours; seven days, four hours and sixteen days, eighteen hours respectively, to revolve around Jupiter, and Doctor Stebbins finds that the variation of the light of the first two at least also follow these periods. This, he explains, is probably due to their being bodies like our moon, and unequally bright over their surface, so that as a greater or less area of the bright surface is exposed to the earth their light is greater or less, because this is largely reflected sunlight.

Compares Light With Stars.
In order to check the photo-electric cell, Doctor Stebbins compares the light of the satellites with nearby stars, whose light is constant, and he suggests that this may be used as a possible check on the variation of sunlight. Direct measurements of sunlight vary greatly because of variations in atmospheric conditions, but since these would affect alike the brilliancy of the satellites and of the comparison stars, a variation in the difference between satellites and stars would indicate an actual variation of sunlight.

Baby Is Found Playing at Nest of Rattlesnakes
Winchester, Va.—The parents of little Jack Bailey, Jr., are wondering what fortunate influence operated to save their child from being bitten by a nest of rattlers and copperhead snakes near their family camp in the Massanutten mountains a day or two ago.

The child was playing some distance from the camp when his father suddenly heard the warning characteristic of the rattlesnake, and hastened to the spot. There were three large rattlers and two copperheads nearby and, although the child had not been attacked, all the reptiles appeared to be making ready for either an attack on the child or a battle among themselves.

Other members of the camping party reinforced Mr. Bailey with clubs, and all the snakes were slain. The largest had fourteen rattles on its tail.

Boon Is Right
Berkshamstead, England.—Great boon to humanity, the noiseless hotel dance. A ballroom here has no orchestra or loud speaker. Couples wear inconspicuous radio receiving sets, devised by scientists after three years' work.

Boys Land in Jail For Rabbit Chasing
Trenton, N. J.—For catching a couple of rabbits and letting them go again, two fifteen-year-old boys spent three nights in the Mercer county jail here, but were set free by a judge who says he used to catch rabbits himself not so many years ago.

Public indignation had been aroused since the local newspapers discovered the case. When the hearing was over the mothers and fathers kissed and hugged their boys, the crowd cheered, the judge grinned and the court clerk forgot all order in the courtroom.

Judge Erwin Marshall called the boys "victims of a vile fee system."

On June 17 last, Edward Brooks and George Flore, playing baseball in Hamilton township near here, came upon a family of rabbits. The game was called and the rabbits were chased all over the outfield. All but two young ones got away in the thicket. Edward caught one and George caught the other.

THE WORLD'S GREAT EVENTS

ALBERT PAYSON TERHUNE

Barbarossa
A GERMAN lad—nearly eight hundred years ago—made Charlemagne his model in life, and resolved to duplicate the French king's feats and win the same power and glory. Like many another historical celebrity, the German youth was red-haired. From this fact his Italian enemies later nicknamed him "Barbarossa" (Red-Beard). His Christian name was Frederick and he was nephew of Conrad, emperor of Germany.

Charlemagne had one early advantage over Barbarossa, for he was direct heir to the throne, while Conrad had a son of his own. Yet so cleverly did the young Barbarossa arrange matters that he, and not this rightful heir, was chosen by Conrad as his successor. The people ratified the choice, and on Conrad's death in 1152 Barbarossa, then twenty-nine years old, came to the throne.

He found Germany in no enviable condition. Disputes had arisen among the petty principalities of the country, and, under Conrad's easy rule, the ties of allegiance had weakened. Moreover, Germany's claims to suzerainty in Italy and other lands had been allowed to lapse. Altogether, Barbarossa had a very poor start in his plan of rivaling Charlemagne's greatness.

In no way discouraged at the gloomy prospect, the young king set to work at once reconciling the differences among the home principalities and making decidedly advantageous alliances and treaties for himself at home and abroad. Unlike most medieval heroes, he was more than a mere warrior. He was also a shrewd politician and an adept in the art of cajoling when coercion failed. In this way he proceeded to strengthen and consolidate Germany into a compact, contented nation. He then made municipal and civic reforms, promoted the cause of education and culture and started Germany once more upon the path of progress.

Having accomplished these tremendous tasks, Barbarossa turned his attention to the Italians who had shaken off Germany's yoke. The Milanese, who ruled much of the northern part of Italy, had maltreated German subjects. Barbarossa, at the head of an army, marched against these rebels, conquered them and laid waste north of Italy. Having thus avenged his subjects' real or fancied wrongs, he marched over the Apennines upon Rome, and there, on June 18, 1155, he was crowned "Holy Roman Emperor." The resemblance to Charlemagne being thus far carried out, he hurried back to Germany, whence tidings had come of robber knights and barons who, taking advantage of their emperor's absence, had set out on a high-handed course of misrule.

The pope, noting this rapid acquisition of power, demanded that Barbarossa become a papal vassal. Barbarossa calmly refused and showed himself able and ready to enforce his refusal. The pope for the time withdrew his demands. But it was soon after this that Barbarossa scandalized Christendom by practically declaring war on the Vatican.

The dispute was purely political and cast no reflection on the emperor's religious faith. Alexander III was pope. Barbarossa favored an anti-pope's claims. Alexander promptly retaliated, stormed Rome and took possession of the Vatican. Italy held its breath at such sacrilege. But even while the world looked on, spellbound, a pestilence swept the German army at Rome (sent, as Alexander declared, in punishment for Barbarossa's blasphemous conduct), and of all that vast host only a scattered remnant returned alive to Germany.

At sight of this weakening of their dreaded master's forces the cities of Lombardy, Italy, formed a confederation against Barbarossa, utterly routing him in battle at Legnano. The emperor was crushed under his falling horse and left on the field for dead. But within three days he reappeared—miraculously, it was thought—at the head of his surviving troops at Pavia.

His plans were defeated, his great power apparently gone. Another man would have despaired. But Barbarossa merely exchanged war once more for diplomacy. He acknowledged Alexander as the true pope and by various crafty maneuvers of wire-pulling and statesmanship regained political control of Italy. Not content with this, he set forth to capture the Holy Land from the Turks. He won two decisive victories in Asia Minor, but before he could reach Palestine itself he was drowned, in 1190, while trying to cross a river—an inglorious death for the hero who had conquered and ruled the greater part of the continent of Europe!

Barbarossa's achievements in behalf of his native land marked a distinct epoch in history. He helped on the cause of the people by granting rights and franchises to cities, and set a world example of modest and progressive government. Civilization and the arts thrived under his wise reign.

Balk at Retirement

Professors in Germany who are forced onto the pension list at the age of sixty-eight, in compliance with the new federal law in effect there, are protesting bitterly that they are too young to retire. According to this edict all government officials, clerks and employees must retire at the age of sixty-eight at the latest. Many head professors who have reached the age limit feel that they are still able to keep up with their duties as well as ever. Only after considerable protest have they relinquished their administrative posts, even though they receive full pay and continue to give their usual lecture courses.

The Oldest Grocer
Several months ago there began a country-wide search for the retail grocers of America who have been longest in business. That search has now ended.

Andrew Hawes of Portland, Maine, steps into the lead. He has been active in the retail grocery trade for 74 years. This dean of the Progressive Grocers' Old Timers' club began his career in 1852 as a clerk with his father. Two years later he took active charge of the store. At these years he has been doing business in the same building at the same location. He is believed to be the oldest retail grocer in the country in point of service.

THIS WOMAN'S BATTLE

Wine Against Ill Health

"At times I was hardly able to do my housework," writes Mrs. Margaret Wallace of 1647 Safford Ave., Columbus, Ohio. "How many women have found themselves in this same condition! How many women have fought bravely on day after day, cooking, washing, ironing, doing the dishes, and keeping the house clean, when they were in a weakened condition and had not sufficient strength to perform these duties easily and properly!"

When Mrs. Wallace was experiencing great difficulty in carrying on the daily tasks, a friend advised her to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she gave it a fair trial. "I just can't give enough thanks to the Compound," she writes. "Now I can eat anything at all and I am feeling better than I have for years. I shall never be without your medicine again."

A woman who is fighting for her health and her family's happiness is a valiant soldier. She wages her battle in her own kitchen. She has no thrilling bugles to cheer her on, no waving banners.

Many other women tell us, as Mrs. Wallace did, that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was their faithful ally in the struggle for better health.

Traffic Accidents
In the opinion of the police chiefs of the leading American cities carelessness of drivers, carelessness of pedestrians, lack of standard traffic signals and congestion of traffic are the four principal causes of traffic accidents. Speeding, intoxication, incompetent drivers, glaring headlights, petting parties and physical or mental disability were designated as the next major causes of auto accidents.

"From the day I was fortunate enough to line up with Tanlac," says Mr. Emil Langhans, ex-cavalryman and retired customs official, "I have kept my health and strength up to the highest standard."

Sitting in his comfortable home at 2219 107th Avenue, Oakland, Calif., Mr. Langhans told how Tanlac had rebuilt strength and vigor for himself and his charming wife. "Tanlac worked wonders for my wife," he said. "She suffered from high blood pressure, neuritis and general run-down condition. Tanlac relieved her."

"I had neuritic rheumatism, suffered for five years with it—so that I could sleep but little, on account of the pain. Kidney trouble, indigestion and loss of appetite had reduced my strength to a low ebb."

"Since taking Tanlac my health, as well as that of my wife, has been remarkable. Though I am retired, I could resume my old work any time. No rheumatism—no kidney trouble—in past two years. I never was so opportunity to praise Tanlac." Old and young, from coast to coast, unite in praising this famous remedy of nature. Made of roots, herbs and barks, according to the exclusive Tanlac formula. It is an amazing tonic medicine. All good druggists sell Tanlac. Get a bottle today! Over 50 million bottles sold.

Fern Life Object of Collection and Study

Ferns with leaves so small that a dime will cover two or three of them, and ferns sixty feet high with ten-foot leaves, will alike form the objects of collection and study by a Smithsonian botanist who has gone to the little island of Jamaica. Dr. W. R. Maxon of the National Museum, specialist on ferns, has received a grant from the American Association for the Advancement of Science and the New York Botanical Garden to spend the summer collecting in Jamaica. Though it is only 150 miles long, Jamaica possesses 500 known kinds of ferns as against 250 in the United States and Canada. The wealth of tree ferns was an object of special interest to the early Spanish explorers because they argued that the soil must be very fertile to make ferns grow so big, while in Europe they were so inconsiderable in size. Jamaica is of particular interest to the botanist because its ferns and other plants were first described 200 years ago and were thus the first to be described from tropical America. The names given them came to be applied loosely to many allied but distinct kinds, and it is important to know accurately the Jamaican species. Doctor Maxon will prepare a descriptive account of the ferns of Jamaica for a series being issued by the British Museum.

Freddie was frank and above board.

His little sister Nancy came rushing into the room one day crying to her mother.

"Oh, mother! Freddie has just thrown one of his bird's eggs at nurse and hit her in the eye!"

"Good gracious! Why in the world did he do that?"

"He said he didn't want it."

Reward Long Delayed

Forty-five years after he accompanied Maj. Gen. Adolphus Washington Greeley on his famous arctic expedition, Brig. Gen. David L. Brainard was recently awarded a medal in recognition of his services by the American Geographic society.

Nearing an Agreement

The holding up of the harbor lease will no doubt be finally threshed out at next Monday night's council meeting.

The conference Wednesday between city officials and the Parr interests was held for the purpose of effecting a clearing up of the lease question, that it will be satisfactory to all—the city, the railroads—and the taxpayers.

It is believed that the council will give the lease its final reading next Monday night.

Senator Norris, of Nebraska, is "all bet up" over the primary scandals in Pennsylvania. Having managed to keep quiet in the face of the suppression of four-fifths of the electorate by force, fraud and legal trickery in a number of solid south states during all the period of his congressional service, he really ought to be able to restrain himself when it comes to thinking of Pennsylvania, where anyway quite a number of people are allowed to vote.

The country lost a real patriot and statesman recently in the unexpected death of Senator Fernald of Maine. He was rarely in the limelight as a conspicuous figure but was safe and sound, and on every great question was a real American. Senator Fernald was a self-made man. His education was cut short when he was but seventeen years of age by the death of his father. He gave up college and took charge of the family farm, a real heroic thing for an ambitious youth to do.

Valentin's aunt is coming over to prove that "where there's a will there's a relative."

The Bureau of Education has compiled definite information concerning compulsory military training in the high schools and colleges of the United States. Out of a study of 180 representative colleges it was found that 51 public and 7 private schools require two years of military training and 1 public college requires four years. There was a decrease between the years 1918 and 1924 of the number of schools having military training. In 1918 there were 445 units and in 1924 there were 54 units.
